Democrats roll to victory

Davis, Polley win

Sweeping countywide offices, Madison County Democrats also re-elected incumbents in three local state House races and helped Dick Durbin roll over Al Salvi in the race to replace U.S. Sen. Paul Simon.

State Rep. Steve Davis

swamped opponent Jim Mihalich to win re-election in the 111th District, while the area's other two state representatives, Tom Holbrook and Wyvetter Young, also Democrats, scored easy victories over challengers Paul Whelan and Alvin Piolet.

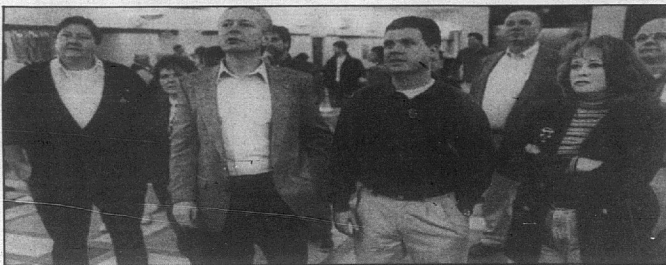

In countywide races, the four Democrat incumbents facing Republican challengers all won easy re-election. Auditor Fred Bathon had the smallest victory of the four — and he still won by nearly 18,000 votes out of some 94,000 cast over challenger John Finnegan.

In the area's Congressional race, Democrat Jerry Costello scored an easy victory over challenger Shapley Hunter.

In the lone contested local county board race, Democrat Patricia E. Polley, Chouteau Township supervisor, won her seat with 2,441 votes to Republican Richard Carnell's 984 votes with all precincts reporting. The board's two Republicans, Homer Henke of Moro and Bill Aery of Godfrey, were able to fend off Democratic challengers to retain the GOP's slim representation.

County recycling efforts paying off

Those extra minutes spent sorting recyclables from garbage are paying off big time, Madison County officials learned Monday.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency notified Madison County that nearly a third of its residential, institutional and commercial garbage is being recycled under a new program started in July.

"The success of the program can be attributed to the efforts of the residents of Madison County as well as cooperation between units of local government and the waste haulers," said County Board Chairman Rudy Papa, D-Bethalto.

The county's waste recycling program was approved earlier this year in a controversial vote by the board. Since then, the county and all municipalities are required to offer recycling.

Trash haulers have reported tonnage of material picked up, how much is recycled and how much is dumped in a landfill.

For the first three months of curbside recycling, 32.2 percent of the waste was being recycled. That compares with just 15 percent last year.

Madison County's rate surpasses the state-mandated 25 percent recycling level for this year.

"This means that residents respect the program," said Joe Parente, county director of the Building, Environment and Lands Department.

But Parente warned that residents, who recently were bombarded by advertising and information about recycling, should not slack off.

"Our job now is to maintain recycling at this ratio and move into other areas of recycling to augment our efforts," Parente said. "We feel

THE LAW

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a person sustains a loss and makes a claim under his homeowner's insurance, normally he will have to file a proof of loss form with the insurance company. In 1980, a local couple left their home for the weekend, and while they were gone, the home burned. Much of the personal property was destroyed, and the homeowners decided to abandon the premises and leave all their personal property behind.

They contacted the insurance company, and obtained proof of loss forms. They did not understand how to complete the forms, and requested help from the insurance company. The insurer offered no assistance, and the homeowners eventually resorted to using department store catalogues to fill out their price some of the articles that were lost in the fire. Eventually the company informed the property owners that they were denying any coverage whatsoever based on the fact that the homeowners had misrepresented certain facts to the company.

The law with regard to proofs of loss states that the insured must honestly indicate the extent of his loss and provide this information to the insurer. If the homeowner provides false information, the entire policy can be voided which would leave him with no coverage in this situation. The trial court felt that the homeowner had materially misrepresented the value of his personal property on the proof of loss form.

However, the Appellate Court reversed the Circuit Court, and found that the homeowners did not knowingly make false representations. The Appellate Court especially emphasized the fact that the property owners requested help from the insurance company in filling out the forms but received none. The Appellate Court felt that since an honest effort was made to value the loss, the trial judge should have put the question to the jury as to whether or not the proof of loss forms were properly completed.

What lessons can be learned from this? First of all, it would probably be helpful initially if the homeowner would take pictures of each room of the house and keep receipts as to the purchase price of each item of personal property. This will help in documenting the loss at a future time. In addition, one would be very careful when filling out proof of loss forms. As evidenced by the case above, if the court finds an intent to deceive at the time of the loss, the entire claim can be denied.

Carol's comments A monograph of one life

Record them, by the written word or on tape, we're told as we grow older.

Personal memories of our own era, our families, what life was like when we were children, as we matured; how we were affected by the times in which we lived.

It will all, some day, be part of history, of value to those interested in an accurate picture of the past.

I know that I treasure my copies of the Civil War letters written by my great-grandfather, Joseph Madison Rabb, to his parents and siblings. The originals are now in the state historical museum in Indianapolis. That's to say nothing of the book, "Eight Families: An account of the Gray, Gregory, Templeton, Wiles, Rabb, Morris, Carville and Cheesman Families and how they came together in America over 350 years," authored by my cousin Chuck Gray.

Now to family accounts. I can add that of a good friend of well over 60 years, Jim Coultas.

During a long weekend in early October spent in Jacksonville with a number of old friends, Jim mentioned to me that at the urging of family and some friends, he'd written a monograph based on his own life and times and I expressed an interest in reading it.

A few weeks later, a copy arrived in the mail, a signed copy, naturally. Titled, "That We Shall Be Remembered," the retrospective covers 74 years of Jim's life and bears the stamp of authenticity to anyone who knows him.

The language, the phraseology, the personal outlook are pure Jim. And he covers all the bases, as I urged to, in terms of memoirs. Typically, Jim prefaces his recollections by noting that "this will not be complete in every detail, will not be an ego trip, but will be as accurate as a 74-years old mind can make it. The general nature of it is intended as a recitation of periods and events as I recall them."

He provides succinct sections of family background and memories of the "way things were" as a child growing up on South Main Street in the village of South Jacksonville.

The house, garden, nearby pasture where he and his younger sister, Carol, learned (at age 10) to drive neighbor's Franklin, and where sometimes, traveling carnivals set up, family outings and trips; the trials of the Depression years and the commonplaces of the times, such as chimney sweeps, "ice cards" in windows, and tramps seeking handouts at the back door.

He writes of his public school years, the formation in junior high of the social group of which we both were members, our teachers, Betty Palmer's dance class at the old Academy Hall, part-time after-school jobs, music lessons, church attendance, sports.

He writes of his years at Illinois College, his marriage to another of my long-time friends, Gratia Hall, their children and grandchildren; his military service during WWII (Infantry, Pacific theater) in great detail, including a simple understatement, "I have always been proud to have been a Combat Infantryman. It does receive a certain degree of respect from people."

His career in banking, which began in 1946 and ended in 1992, with Elliott State Bank of Jacksonville and Firstbank of Illinois; his service to the community in which he was born and where he still lives; his active participation in his church, Westminster Presbyterian. Jim has always had a good singing voice and is still a member of the choir.

Included in an addendum, are a number of "thoughts and readings" and I found especially pertinent some notes Jim had made in 1991, apparently as goals for a good executive. In addition to the expected (sound business principles, making quick and accurate decisions, etc.), he had included "have genuine interest in people, be a good listener, persuade but don't force, give opposition a chance to save face, spare humiliation, build loyalty and trust, give recognition freely, share limelight. Be virtuous, considerate, sincere, consistent, courteous."

Words to live by. Reading Jim's retrospective, I was struck by the generous credit he gave throughout to others: his family, his friends, teachers, business associates. The small monograph says more about family and community values than anything I've heard out of politicians in years.

Fast walk lights drive her crazy

(This column was written by Taka Zschneider of Belleville.) Sometime ago, my husband wrote an article for this column entitled, "Little Things Are Important."

That was about things which particularly bothered him a great deal. Some people don't use their turn signals to turn right or left when driving. When he sees someone turning without signaling, he gets upset and tries to give a lecture. Of course, nobody can hear him — except me. To me, educating other people is not our duty, whether you are driving. You should just concentrate on safe driving yourself.

That doesn't bother me. The problem for me is the traffic signal on many busy intersections.

That is, the signal for pedestrians. "DON'T WALK!"

The light says, "WALK!" So I walk to get to the other side in the crosswalk. But when I reach about the middle of the crossing, the signal begins to blink, "DON'T WALK!"

No matter where — big cities or small — these signals for pedestrians turn so quickly! I'm a 5-1 Japanese woman, and I am a naturalized American citizen.

Before I received citizenship I had to study United States law and U.S. history, the Constitution and geography — required by all those who apply for citizenship.

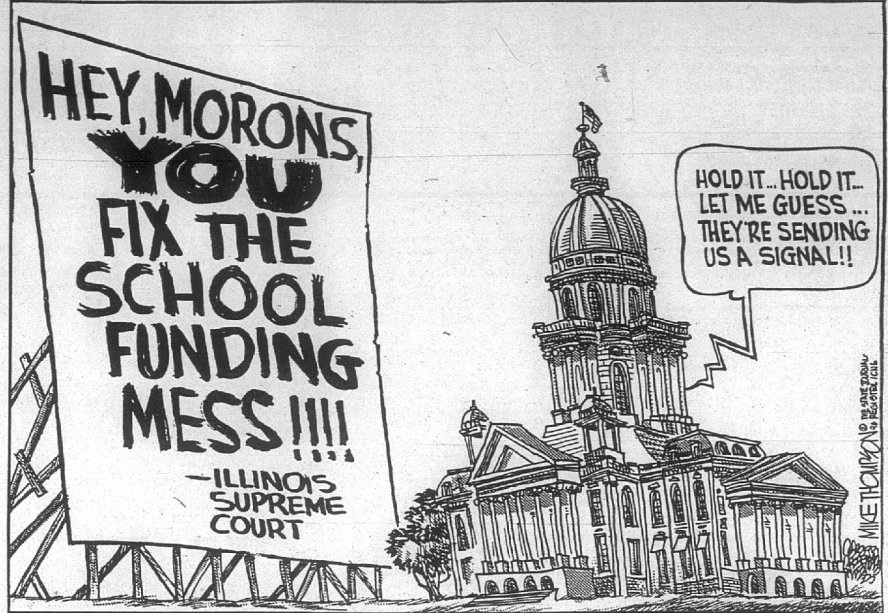

I love my new country. The United States is a great country. It's very big and so spacious. And there is great freedom. I'm enjoying our life here in the States, and I'm trying to be a good citizen. I obey the laws.

But when it comes to the pedestrian crossing lights, it's impossible to make it from one side of the street to the other before the "DON'T WALK" signal starts blinking.

What can I do? I know I can't stop walking. Do I have to fly or jump or dance? I am convinced that "WALK" and "DON'T WALK" signals are designed for 6-footers, athletic type men — and not for 5-1 women!

I love to walk. Walking is good for your health.

But when I am crossing the street at an intersection with crosswalk lights and the light starts blinking "DON'T WALK!" — what can I do?

Letters to the editor

No raises for city officials

TO THE EDITOR: I am writing in regards to an article in your paper on Sept. 25, entitled "Pay Raise Proposal Defended."

I think that the city officials should not get a raise for many reasons. One is that it would cause the public to dislike its government. Another reason is that $45,000 dollars a year is enough. A final reason is because some people only get one raise in their life. Just because someone works for the city doesn't mean they should get paid twice as much as anyone else. Raising the pay of city officials would also cause a raise in taxes, which people will hate. The city already raised the bill for trash pickup. We can't afford any more! Also, the people in Granite City don't think that the city officials have worked hard enough to earn the money they make now. Why should they get more?

Some people have to live on $16,000 a year. If the mayor wouldn't spend $600 on a suit or $200 for one meal, then he wouldn't need a raise. Would he?

Some people go all their lives making minimum wage. Why should the officials get a 3 1/2 percent raise every year if some people never get one in their lives? Does the mayor work harder than half of Granite City? I don't think so. Is this what you want for your city? I sure don't.

Football team deserves praise

TO THE EDITOR: I, like all Granite City fans, am so proud of the GCHS football team — especially the tremendous defensive play they showed Oct. 22 against the Tigers from Edwardsville.

Edwardsville is ranked No. 2 in the entire state of Illinois with a game average of more than 50 points, including that many points in a whopping, perennial power East St. Louis.

We were scheduled to lose by at least 10 touchdowns and lost by only four. Hats off to Coach Nick Petrillo, staff, players and fans. We admire you and appreciate you all.

Since I am practically a shut-in, this is my only way to thank you and remind you to think of next football season. Remember the kids will have another year under Nick; the 1996 freshmen and sophomores had an excellent season.

This is from a guy who came to Granite High more than 40 years ago — only for the fall semester — because I had signed a contract as head football coach with another high school in Florida.

But the students and people so impressed my wife and I, and my two girls and two boys were so happy here, we stayed and are still here at my age of 83 years.

Schooling for immigrants?

TO THE EDITOR: On Sept. 23, an article entitled, "GOP to Drop Provision for Barring School for Illegal Immigrants" appeared in the newspaper. I disagree with dropping the provision for prohibiting illegal immigrants to go to school because I do not think people who illegally came into our country should receive public American schooling. First of all, it would take too much of the teachers' time teaching the immigrants our language. Teachers would have to spend too much time teaching illegal children rather than teaching our legal children.

Second, our children's learning process would be constantly slowed down. Immigrant children would be behind in their work, and the teacher would spend all the class time with them. As a result, our children would not know what to do because the teachers would spend all the class time explaining the assignments to the immigrant children.

Finally, the taxpayers would be spending too much money on the immigrant children. We would be paying our tax money for them to be in school when they shouldn't even be in our country. We would also be spending our tax dollars on their textbooks that they probably wouldn't be able to read anyway.

Thanks for compassion

TO THE EDITOR: On Thursday, Oct. 24, strangers showed compassion to help me when I fell and blacked out. To the two nurses and the man who took off his jacket and placed it under my head, I give my heartfelt thanks.

I don't remember all this, but my wife told me after the medics took me to the emergency room, where the staff did a wonderful job.

To my neighbor who called 911 and to all my other neighbors — thank you. To the two medics who responded so quickly — thank you.

This proves that people still care for one another.

Media problem is laziness

TO THE EDITOR: There has been a lot of criticism of the media lately. For the most part, the media is biased. This bias, however, is not the crux of the problem.

The main problem with today's media is laziness. Most reporters seem to wait until a story appears on the Associated Press, wire and then they just repeat it in their own words — no investigation, just repetition.

If I were a reporter, I have several questions to which I would like answers: When did Bill J. Clinton become William Jefferson Clinton? Banking documentation during his years as governor of Arkansas were prepared for Bill J. Clinton. (Banks use legal names).

If his name was not changed legally to William Jefferson Clinton, then all the bills and legislation he has signed are invalid. If it was changed, when and why? Just to appear more Presidential? This may be a moot point, but it is a question deserving of an answer.

— What happened to Hill-ry's coat? In reviewing the videotape of Hillary arriving to give her "testimony" she was wearing a black coat with gold trim. When she exited (supposedly four hours later) she was wearing NO coat. No security agent carried her coat. Was Hillary really there for four hours? Did she perhaps enter the front door, forgetting her coat because the weather had warmed?

What caused Ron Brown's airplane to crash? — What happened to the money and planes found missing from the Pentagon approximately two years ago?

— What is the motive behind the media attempt to hush and discredit Ross Perot, the Reform Party and the other third party candidates?

I could go on. How can it be that an average citizen can have these questions and yet they go unasked and unanswered? The so-called "reporters" who purport to be educated journalists?

Bottles hold messages for collectors, dealers

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

For old bottles and glassware, Gateway Center was the place to be Sunday where the Metro East Bottle and Relic Show was held. Terry Mueller of Belleville, who supervised the show, said that about 130 tables were set with items.

There were so many tables — and so many people inspecting the items on them — that an occasional clinking of bottles or the unfortunate shatter of glass would put a hush over part of the room. But after a second or two, the hustle and bustle would resume.

Lorine Weinacht of Caseyville and her daughter Melissa were among the hundreds of spectators enjoying the show.

"I like the (pre-Prohibition) shotglasses and the old medicinal bottles," said Weinacht. "I don't go out of town much looking for them so it's great to have something like this right here."

Daughter Melissa, 10, is an avid collector of marbles and eggs and the show had plenty to offer her. "There's a lot of neat stuff," she said.

Anne Ritchey of Belleville came to the show looking for salt and pepper shakers but left with a childhood memory instead.

"I don't know how many of these I saw as a child," the 79-year-old Ritchey said, clutching a clear, flat bottle that once held Dr. Foster's Nourishing Elixir. "It seemed my mother always had a bottle of this on her bedside table. Hard to believe they're worth any money now."

Ritchey said she was going to show the bottle to her grandchildren. "Maybe they'll get a kick out of it," she said.

Carol Keesen of Collinsville carefully compared two bottles from a bottling company in Ames, Iowa.

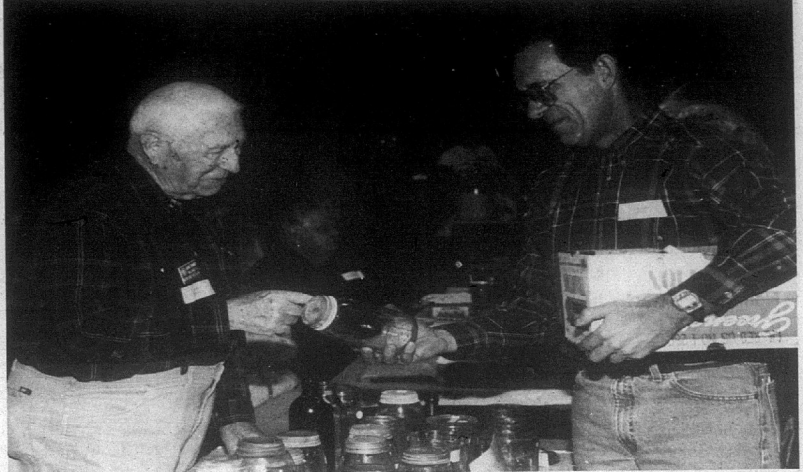

"My mother is from Ames, I bet she'd know something about this," Keesen said.

Keesen has collected bottles for several years, a hobby spurred by her brother's restoration of an old farmhouse near Elgin, Ill.

"He dug up a lot of weird stuff," Keesen said. "I have some and others he kept. Anytime I find something from that area, I pick it up for him."

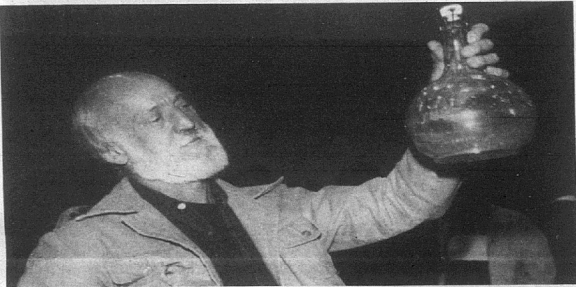

Beth Burg of O'Fallon, who was juggling several bags, said she was doing some Christmas shopping.

"Well, some of it's mine," said Burg, who collects old spice bottles and tins.

•Fire

Both children were students at Blair School.

Funeral services for all three are set for noon Friday at Mount Nebo Missionary Baptist Church in Madison. The Rev. Lawrence Nash will be officiating.

A spokesman for St. Louis Children's Hospital said Gibson was pronounced dead at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday. He had been in critical condition since being taken to the hospital Saturday afternoon.

McMorris was pronounced dead at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City Saturday afternoon, while Haynes was pronounced dead at the scene of the fire.

On Wednesday, Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said Haynes' cause of death was still pending, and that she might have had a heart attack while trying to escape the fire.

"She did have heart problems," Burke said.

Burke added that she would have to wait for toxicology reports to determine the level of carbon monoxide in the victim's bloodstream.

An officer was sent to the home at about 1:55 p.m. Saturday after police received a 911 call from the home, but nobody was on the line. The officer was flagged down by neighbors who said they saw smoke coming out of the home.

Madison Fire Chief Mike Foley said the fire apparently started in a sofa in the home's living room.

The Madison Fire Marshal's office was investigating the blaze, but as of Wednesday an exact cause had not been determined.

Police Chief Steve Skoklo said the fire appears to be accidental.

In addition, store officials said, each ticket includes a $5 coupon good on any purchase of $50 or more.

Tickets will only be valid during the special event.

The store will be closed to the general public from 6 to 10 p.m. Nov. 14.

Only ticket-holders will be allowed admission during the special sale.

Prather School will benefit by keeping all proceeds from any tickets that are sold.

Call Prather at 451-5833 or call J.C. Penney at 451-0545 for tickets or more information.

•Recycling

recycling is a habit that people get used to. It becomes second nature, and that's what we hope happens here."

Large commercial users of paper products, such as department stores, are doing the bulk of recycling, Parente said.

He said new strategies will focus on getting small businesses to recycle more.

Reports indicate the county generated 36,656 tons of trash since July, 12,451 tons of which were recycled.

The residential sector recycled at a rate of 26.6 percent, while commercial and institutions achieved a 46 percent rate, the County Board member Dick Worthen, D-Alton, chair of the Environmental Committee, said long-term effects of recycling will be felt for generations.

Madison residents have saved the equivalent of 114,886 trees in recycled paper products.

Five county officials win

Democrats retain posts

All five Democratic county officeholders were handily returned to their jobs in Edwardsville Tuesday.

Only one incumbent, Democratic County Auditor Fred Bathon, was winning with less than a 2-to-1 margin late Tuesday.

Nevertheless, Bathon said he was grateful for the support he received in his race against Republican challenger John Finnegan.

"It's humbling and gratifying to see the votes I've received tonight," Bathon said. "This tells me that the voters are happy with the work I've done as county auditor."

Bathon said the role of the county auditor is to provide quality financial information, monitor public funds and pursue improvement in county government.

He previously served as deputy county auditor for almost eight years. During his county employment, he also served as part-time treasurer for the city of Madison.

Finnegan, of Alton, had criticized Bathon for not providing County Board members with a way to make an early retirement program work for county employees.

County Coroner Dallas M. Burke, Recorder Dan Donohoo and Circuit Clerk Matt Melucci won with overwhelming majorities. State's Attorney Bill Haine was opposed by write-in candidate William Lambert.

Bathon said he thinks the voters' support proved that large raises awarded to himself, the coroner, recorder and circuit clerk this year were justified.

"The raises were approved by the County Board, and it was known that the (officeholders) supported the raises," Bathon said. "I think the public saw the raises as reasonable."

Circuit Clerk Melucci also said he was grateful to supporters. He said he was fairly confident of re-election, as none of the Republican challengers ever said the incumbents were not qualified.

Melucci, of Collinsville, will serve his second four-year term in the office. He is well-known in Southern Illinois for his work as a public administrator, having chaired the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council in the early 1980s and as U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello's chief of staff. Melucci was also the first county director of administration.

The circuit clerk's job is to keep records of all court transactions in the county, from felonies to child support to evictions.

Republican challenger Arno V. Sponeman of Collinsville said the office can do a better job at simplifying instructions for people who file for evictions and for small claims.

Coroner Burke, 69, thanked voters who have elected her to five consecutive terms and said this will probably be her last run.

During the election, Burke pointed to her long record of improving the office. She said the office now requires a full-time head who is not always in the field.

Her office employs four full-time and two part-time deputy coroners. Pathologists are held on retainer by the office for autopsies.

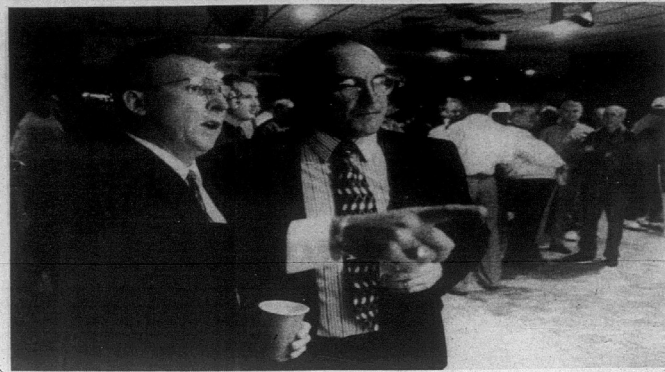

Burke pointed out that she has fulfilled many promises in her career, such as opening the first county morgue in Southern Illinois, computerizing all records and attracting a professional staff.

Richard Hampson, the losing Republican candidate for coroner, said he was disappointed in his low support.

"(Burke) is obviously a strong candidate and the biggest vote-getter in the county," said Hampson. "The money raised by the Democrats in this county is also a big difference. That is a resource you just can't compete with."

Hampson also said it was difficult for Republicans to compete in a Democratic county in a year when the top of their ticket, Presidential nominee Bob Dole, trailed President Bill Clinton.

experience in a coroner's office. But Hampson claimed that Burke no longer performs as coroner and thus requires an unnecessary deputy coroner.

Recorder Donohoo said his goals are to continue advancing his office's computer services and database. Specifically, he hopes to establish an optical imaging system to speed information retrieval, a CD-ROM database and an on-line Internet service.

Republican challenger Chris Doucleff said he decided to run for office partly because, as a real estate appraiser, he found it difficult to access information in the Madison County Recorder's office.

Doucleff is also part-owner of a new restaurant in Alton. The office is responsible for processing and recording deeds and deeds transactions on every parcel of property in the county.

The final, unofficial totals were: Circuit Clerk: Arno Sponeman, 31,162; Matt Melucci, 64,063.

Recorder: Chris Doucleff, 35,019; Dan Donohoo, 59,474.

State's Attorney: William Haine, 77,078.

Auditor: John Finnegan, 38,104; Fred Bathon, 56,001.

Coroner: Richard Hampson, 32,415; Dallas Burke, 64,386.

Polley savors victory

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

With an overwhelming victory in the Madison County District 16 board race, Chouteau Township Supervisor Pat Polley became the first woman elected to the county board since 1980.

Polley defeated Republican challenger Ronald G. Carnell 2,441 to 984.

Madison County Clerk Debbie Salitch said that Polley several women have been appointed to serve the remaining terms of their late husbands, but the last woman to be elected to the county board was Dorothy Spence of Alton, who served from 1989 to 1992. Before that, three other women had been elected to the board.

"At this point I just feel honored to have been chosen by the people of District 16 to represent them, and I will do that to the best of my ability," Polley said Tuesday evening.

However, her opponent is questioning whether she can hold both the county board and township supervisor's positions.

Carnell on Wednesday questioned whether she could legally hold her position as township supervisor and serve on the county board, and questioned whether she would be willing to give up her supervisor's position.

Salitch said it was permissible to hold both jobs. Salitch pointed out that several county board members are also township supervisors.

Including the late Nelson "Nellie" Hagnauer.

Carnell said Wednesday that Polley will be "double dipping" when she takes her county board seat in January.

"The taxpayers may not have been aware of this," Carnell said. "Sometimes you have to tell them two or three times before they finally figure it out. A lot of people simply don't pay attention."

"Even though it has been historically accepted, it's not right — whether it is Nellie Hagnauer or Pat Polley or a Republican."

was trying to argue with me after I went out there. I was told by the State's Attorney's Office that if Mr. Davis didn't abide to go ahead and arrest him.

"He told me, 'I'm leaving any way.'"

Davis said, "I wanted to hear the official word, and when (Sammis) told me to leave, I did. It was no big deal."

Meanwhile in Edwardsville, the last-minute posting of election signs proved to be an irritant to some officials. Police removed one candidate's signs that had popped up overnight.

Legally right-of-ways between streets and sidewalks, and taped over stop signs and street signs.

Earlier, police had warned both political parties about complying with the city's sign ordinance.

issues as education, health care and crime control.

GOP Gov. Edgar, who remained in Springfield on election night, said Republicans experienced a "gender gap problem. You can't give up that many of the women voters and be able to win, especially in a state like Illinois."

Salvi spent the last weekend trying to rally his die-hard supporters in the anti-abortion movement and other conservatives.

He also struggled to regain his footing after a gaffe last week in which, apparently feeling from Durbin's attacks on the gun issue, Salvi blurted that former presidential spokesman Jim Brady was at one time a machine gun dealer.

Salvi apologized the next day. But Brady, disabled in the last assassination attempt on Ronald Reagan, called a news conference to proclaim Salvi "obviously confused."

Keeping score in year of high offense

Now that the playoffs are under way, things ought to start quieting down on the offensive end in area high school football. Scoreboard operators have been kept busy this season, as area teams have been scoring, it seems, almost at will.

Leading the area has been Edwardsville, which piled up a state-record tying 466 points in nine regular-season games for an unbelievable average of 52 points per game. Before its last regular-season game — a 28-0 victory over Granite City Oct. 25 — the fewest amount of points the Tigers had scored in a game was 41. Not in downplay Granite City's play, but Edwardsville probably would have approached the Dougherty if Tigers star quarterback Jim Dougherty hadn't got hurt and star running back Colin Gardner hadn't been playing at well less than 100 percent because of injuries.

Without both players at full strength in the opening round of the playoffs last week, Edwardsville defeated Ottawa Township 14-13 in overtime to run its record to 10-0.

Yet the question has to be asked: Where has all the defense gone? Edwardsville coach Tim Dougherty would respond: "Nowhere."

Dougherty would rather give credit to the offensive players than discredit the defenders. "We've got a good offensive system here at Edwardsville, and the players have just fallen in place with their talent," Dougherty says. "We have better skill players on offense (than defense)."

Dougherty points out that the Tigers scored 414 points last year in an 11-1 season and had 338 points in only seven games in a strike-torn 1994 campaign. Dougherty's son Jim, of course, has been a big reason why the Tigers have been successful. He has started at quarterback in the team's option offense for the last three seasons.

The Tigers have been so dominant in offense this year that they had a streak where they scored on 19 of 20 possessions. Other eye-popping statistics of note: Jim Dougherty didn't throw an interception during the regular season; the Tigers' third-down conversion percentage was about 75 percent; and they had three players — Dougherty, Gardner and Craig Mays — with a total yardage of more than 1,000 yards.

Many old-timers are comparing this year's Edwardsville's dominance with some of the great teams fielded by East St. Louis Senior High over the years.

Tim Dougherty, not wanting to overlook his defense, says his team had about 20 more takeaways than giveaways this season, thus setting up the offense, at times, for short-yardage scoring drives.

Belleville West's Larry Betz, who has been coaching high school football as a head coach or assistant for 33 years, also gives the offense the credit in a year of high-scoring games.

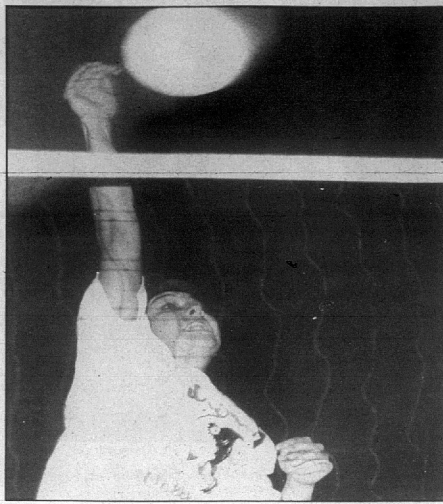

"There seems to be more emphasis on offense now," Betz, the Maroons' first-year head coach, said. "I think part of that (is) the 7-on-7 passing tournaments, like at the Prairie State Games. This idea has filtered down and made teams more offensive-minded."

Betz also said talented offensive linemen obviously have helped to contribute to the high-scoring efforts by area teams.

East St. Louis, Edwardsville, Collinsville, Alton and O'Fallon all had outstanding lines this year, he said. "And the results have shown that."

To demonstrate the wealth of area offensive talent this year, Betz said his quarterback, Tim Miller, finished third in the balloting for all-Southwestern Conference honors behind Dougherty and Alton quarterback Craig Harmon.

"Tim Miller is one of the best passing quarterbacks I've ever been around," Betz said. "There also was a wealth of good running backs in our conference this year."

Wildcats oust GCHS in sectional semis

Salem ends Lady Warriors' season

Granite City coach Amy Cole has said her team plays its best volleyball when backed into a corner.

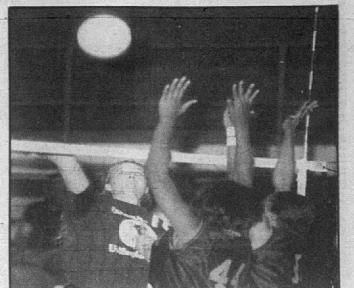

The Lady Warriors were a bit too late trying to defend themselves, however, against the unrelenting Salem Wildcats on Tuesday. The consequence was a 15-6, 15-10 loss to Salem that eliminated GCHS from the semifinals of the Belleville East Class AA Sectional.

The Lady Warriors, who never really hit their stride until the latter stages of the second game, ended their first season under Cole with a 15-19 record. Salem improved to 26-6 and advanced to sectional championship match tonight against heavily favored Belleville West (33-4). The Maroons defeated Marion (20-12-1) 15-6, 15-4 in the other semifinal.

While the Lady Warriors fell in straight sets, they are still spiking themselves for not playing better against a Salem team they did not truly believe was superior in talent.

"We were playing hoping not to lose instead of playing to win," said Deb Germann, who along with Ruth Layton is a third-year GCHS assistant coach. "We were serving well, but we made too many unnecessary mistakes. It's not like Salem dominated the match, even though the score might indicate that. We just hurt ourselves with the mistakes and we weren't able to get it going."

GCHS seemed at first to carry over the momentum from its impressive win over East St. Louis Lincoln last Thursday for the East St. Louis Regional title. The Lady Warriors jumped out to a 3-0 lead against Salem, before the Wildcats reversed into second gear. ## Skaters set aim higher in Tier I

By Brian L. Jones
Correspondent

The Mid-States Club Hockey Association, now in its 26th year of existence, has been divided into two levels since 1991-92, with Tier I representing the higher quality of competition. Since that time, the Granite City Warriors have been one of the winningest teams in the lower conference. Last year, they finished second in the Tier II playoff tournament, losing to Rockwood Summit in the title game at the Kiel Center.

Now the Warriors are ready to play with the big boys. Mid-States officials have elevated them to Tier I this year, coinciding with the arrival of new Granite City coach Rick Hodge, a former Granite City Steelers youth hockey coach, replaces former Warriors coach Dave Yurkovich.

"I don't think these guys were really pushed to their (maximum) potential in Tier II because they dominated a lot of those teams," Hodge said. "Obviously, getting back (to Kiel Center) will be a tougher road to hoe in Tier I. But we'll be more satisfied doing it at this level."

Tier I is divided into four divisions, A, B, C and D, which are also based on skill levels with "A" representing the cream of the crop. The fact that Granite City was placed in the C Division is another compliment to its program. Rockwood Summit also moved up to Tier I, but is in the D Division.

Granite City's new division rivals are Francis Howell, Francis Howell North, Hazelwood Central, Ladue and Whitfield. Each division winner in the regular season standings will advance in February to the Final Four of the '97 Tier I championship tournament at Kiel Center.

"I'd say we have as good a chance as anyone to win our division," Hodge said. "We have a lot of experience, so we'll be competitive. We've got five seniors and five juniors on our (20-man) varsity roster and they were all regulars last year."

The Warriors open the regular season at 9 p.m. Friday with a "home" game against Parkway North at the Webster Groves Ice Rink. Their first game at Wilson Park will be Nov. 18 against Francis Howell.

Kahoks outshoot Senators, advance to state tourney

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

On Election Night, the Collinsville Kahoks impeached the Springfield Senators from postseason play to earn a trip to the Illinois state tournament.

The Kahoks (16-5-2) once again did it in dramatic fashion Tuesday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. With Collinsville trailing 1-0 and less than four minutes remaining, Jeff Rhymer scored to force the game into overtime. After two 10-minute scoreless overtime periods, the game came down to penalty kicks.

The Kahoks outscored the Senators 5-4 in PKs to prevail 2-1 and capture the Edwardsville Super-Sectional title.

The Kahoks will play Normal U. High in the state quarterfinals at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Norris Stadium in St. Charles. Normal, which is making its first-ever state tourney appearance, defeated Moline 4-2 in "This is totally unbelievable," an emotional Collinsville coach Ron Rowden said.

Collinsville advanced to the super-sectional after defeating O'Fallon 2-1 on Saturday. In the sectional semifinals, the Kahoks came back from a 3-0 halftime deficit to beat Granite City 4-3.

On Tuesday, Rowden felt the Kahoks would have an advantage during the penalty-kick period.

"We have worked PKs the last two weeks, hard," Rowden said. "We had contests of 5-on-5 to find our best shooters. The game shouldn't come down to this. Springfield is a highly skilled team. They made us work our butts off."

What's nice is (the PKs are) just another little aspect of the game we have covered this year and we were prepared.

Wildcats pounded their way back to a 7-3 lead and then quickly put away the first game. They also had a little more help from the Lady Warriors than the GCHS coaches would have liked.

"It wasn't so much them making a run on us," Germann said. "We were hitting the ball on 10-1 bounces and we made a couple of net violations when they got the rally going. It was just one of those nights. That wasn't our best volleyball."

The Lady Warriors could have easily folded, however, when they fell behind 8-3 in the second game. Belleville West and Marion players roared from their seats at that point and began stretching, sending them were about to take the court in a matter of minutes. But GCHS seniors Amy Tapp, Tona Druhe and Stephanie Brand were not about to end their prep careers on the downside.

Tapp and Brand, in particular, got more aggressive at the net and the Lady Warriors began cutting back on their unforced errors. Granite City stormed back to within a 9-7 deficit and managed to tie the score at 10-10 before Salem coach Suzanne Henry called a timeout.

GCHS kept firing away with spikes after the break, but Salem's back row defenders entertained the crowd with diving digs and returns. Having finally broken Granite City's spirit, they scored the last five points to end the match.

"It's hard to believe that No. 15 (Husk) is only a sophomore," Germann said of Salem's top middle hitter. "She's a real nice hitter. They hustled and they played hard, but they weren't nearly the most talented team we've played. I wouldn't put them in a class with Belleville West and Belleville East and Red Bud and some of the others. Like I said, we just didn't perform very well tonight."

The winner of tonight's match will move on to face the winner of the Belleville East Sectional at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Granite City Super-Sectional.

back in August, we worked our butts off. All the scouting trips, all the hard work in practice, it all paid off."

Springfield coach Phil Eck has to be wondering what it takes to win a super-sectional game. The Senators (16-4-3) have been to the super-sectional four straight years only to lose four times — including 1-0 to Collinsville in 1993, 1-0 to Granite City in 1994 and 1-0 to Edwardsville in 1995.

"We haven't had many breaks here," Eck said. "I thought we were finally going to get a break when our head-er kind of went through their goalie's hands and we got up 1-0. After that, with the red card and Collinsville scoring with three minutes to go, I guess it is not a lucky field for us."

Senior Dan Walden gave the Senators a 1-0 lead at 44:41. Brent Borah flighted a shot toward the net that Walden headed on goal. Collinsville was in plenty of time to make the save, but the ball managed to slip through his hands and into the back of the net.

But as regulation started to wind down, Collinsville began a final push to score the equalizer. The Kahoks got the break they were looking for when a player got tripped about 30 yards outside the Springfield goal. Drew Estes took the restart and flighted a ball to the near post.

Rhymer put a header on goal that fooled Senators goalie Grant Peterson. The ball actually bounced behind Peterson before going in to the tie game at 1-1. The Senators controlled play in the first OT but lost Dan Bartolomucci with 15 seconds remaining, when drew his second yellow card.

Springfield played the entire second overtime period short-handed with 10 players but still dominated play.

"With all those opportunities, I thought one of those was going to go in," Eck said. "We definitely had some shots on goal, but a bunch of them went over or went wide."

"We're going to have to be better in the future," Eck said. "We're going to have to be better in the future, but we're going to be better in the future."

Hodge did get an advanced peek at his club two weeks ago during the Pucks of Power preseason charity tournament. The Warriors went 3-0, beating McClellan North, Hazelwood Central and Pattonville.

"We're not a strong physical team, so we're definitely going to have to use speed to be able to compete," Hodge said.

"Speed is the difference between the two tiers. But I didn't see anybody that was faster than us. We have the talent if we get it all on the same page."

The Warriors also have one of the area's leading goaltenders in senior Tony Evans. Evans is expected to start in every game with freshmen Matt Freeze and Lester Grobe as his alternate backups.

"Evans started about half the games last year splitting time with a senior kid who graduated," Hodge said. "He's a definite force in the net. He has such a strong mental makeup with his concentration and everything. He favors the butterfly style but we're trying to get him to be more of a standup goalie."

The four other seniors are centerman David Miskelley, defenseman Brian Johnson and wingers Chris Hatfield and Mikal Guffey. The juniors are centers Bob Pritchard and Brian Loftus, wingers Bobby Harris and Todd McQueen, and defenseman Vince Whittenburg, who also can play forward.

Guffey can also play center, though Hodge will open with Miskelley, Pritchard and Loftus taking most of the faceoffs.

Hodge is anxious to see how Guffey has recovered from a broken ankle injury late last season.

"Offensively, we're expecting a lot from Guffey and Bobby Pritchard, who's a very good setup man," Hodge said. "We know those guys will produce some points. Chris Hatfield can put the puck in the net and so can David Miskelley. We don't have anybody that's a real game-breaker, but we've got enough balance that anybody can do it on a given night."

And don't overlook the four sophomores. They are headed by winger Jon Burns, who saw considerable ice time in the playoffs as a freshman. The others are defensemen Mike Angel, Scott Sarich and Lenny Wilson.

Joining Freeze and Grobe as varsity freshmen are forwards Ty Suhre and Dustin Wesley and defensemen David Sbezia and Bobby Mezaros.

Hodge had no particular set lines and backline tandems entering the Parkway North opener.

"We'll experiment with them until we'll have a halfway through the season before we get deadlocked into anything," Hodge said. "They'll have to earn their ice time through their efforts and their teamwork."

Because the Warriors are youngest on defense, their biggest challenge is to improve at clearing the zone for the transition break. In fact, the freshman Mezaros, who also plays for the St. Louis Amateur Blues AAA Bantam team, might be one of the Warriors' top defensemen.

St. Peter Church sends cookies to Bosnia

Sky rockets went off in the head of Verna (Skip) Kidman when she read an article in the Sunday church bulletin on Mother's Day, which had been written by sister of Chaplain Mark Roeder who is stationed in Bosnia, suggesting that the soldiers in Bosnia really appreciate cookies from home.

"Here's something I can do," she thought.

Skip Kidman, a member of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st and Clay, is known for her good chocolate chip cookies, which she has delivered faithfully on a regular basis to the sick and shut-ins of St. Peter's Church and other "special people," as she prefers to call them, for many years. On reading this article she knew that these were "special people" she wanted to help.

Chaplain Roeder has been placed on Skip's mailing list of "special people" to receive a card and a letter each month.

If you or your organization would like to send a package to Bosnia, the address is: Chaplain Mark Roeder, HHD 485 CSB 16 CSG, Operation Joint Elevator, A.P.O. AE98789 attention of Chaplain Mark Roeder.

The "goodies" were well received and the Chaplain sent Skip a reply letting her know how much they enjoyed them and said they had also received cookies from other United Church of Christ congregations. A second batch of "goodies" was promptly forwarded and again they were acknowledged with a letter of thanks.

Skip has another specialty, "homemade bread" and she is planning on sending some as soon as the weather is cool enough and she is hopeful that the candy will be enjoyed as much as the cookies and zucchini bread.

Chaplain Roeder has been placed on Skip's mailing list of "special people" to receive a card and a letter each month.

the sign of improvement, and under the Scorpio sun, renovations happen on a much deeper level. It is easy to concentrate on health issues and affect immediate change. Paying close attention to detail is rewarded monetarily and will also be fulfilling. Mentorships provide results quickly.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Honor the promises you make to yourself. You have great leeway in business negotiations. Employers back up your opinions. New lovers make huge concessions. Former in-laws give to your children.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Keep your peripheral vision clear—tunnel vision will hurt your work. Don't aggravate a family quarrel by injecting new issues. Pinpoint objectives in business. Casual acquaintances suddenly become very important.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Realize that everyone has different strengths. A teen is motivated when you set a good example. Plan a second honeymoon. Enjoy a new romance with someone much younger. Tackle overdue chores.

An exercise in tolerance will prove that you have evolved. Use your sense of humor to ease tension. Restore your confidence in a romance by taking aggressive action. Reversals are not as bad as they seem.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Your strength of character is tested, and you do beautifully. Tension saps your creativity. Focus on problems before they engulf you. Don't make frantic telephone calls. Play hard-to-get in love, especially with Scorpios.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 7). You have more to gain from putting your energies into your own personal growth than you do from feeding the whims of others. Use logic in love and you'll suddenly have the commitment you seek. Virgos and Aries make exciting offers in January. Your job improves in March with a promotion. An almost-lost investment is saved by clever action in February.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23). You are a model of persistence and integrity; others follow your lead. Testing your current love is silly. Show trust with others and it will be returned. You must let inefficient workers go. Accept more responsibility.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23). You have the power to stop confusion before it starts. Develop new talents through lessons and schooling. Romantic hassles end when you show more independence. Transportation delays postpone important meetings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21). Be open to someone else's Preoccupation with business strains your relationship with children. Your leadership potential is great. Anything written is well-received. Incorporate the newest technology.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Outlets for competition surprise you but must be met with forceful action. Don't follow the crowd—be unique. Luck comes through sports and team endeavors. You are more fulfilled using complicated methods.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). A relative is embellishing the truth. Relationships deserve extra time and focus. No differences are irreconcilable in love. Follow your feelings in all matters. Renegotiate contracts or deals. A Taurus brings you luck.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Concentrate on the benefits of a relationship that is mostly unfulfilling. Stop accommodating unnecessary interruptions from children or neighbors. Freelancers get key assignments today.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). In matters of communication, set the style, don't follow it. Mid-level bureaucrats help you and your business. A romantic episode must not be repeated. Use logic with teens. Success in interviews and meetings is yours.
